

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A glass substrate printed wiring board is used as the printhead for electric paper. Printing electrodes are formed at the edge of the glass substrate. Signals are generated by a driver circuit and conducted by traces to the electrodes to generate an electric field to rotate the bichromal rotating elements of the electric paper to form black or white pixels.

5